Portrait.

The piano sounds enchanting.
It makes you think of infant days with the pure power when that tiny bell out the heart shaped.

Fatches for the cheeks and Tulips, truly pressed her eye blossoms.

With the sharp pencils—Her colors truly colored on in Many bright places.

Toward trembling, poised words,
And her heart, don't you think,
Want clinging?

Dark.

OKEMAH, Sept. 5.—The home of J. D. Turner was destroyed by fire here Friday. The Turner home was one of the finest in Okemah and was known how the fire originated.

There was no concerted action but girls from the cultured home and girls from the poor and untrained, alike, rescuing the thoughts of the uplift idea.

A tactless person ruined a more desirable plan and it was never tried.

We hope the Michigan plan successes. We believe in environment.

We believe right association and right environment make right living.

We are glad a state university has the vision, the cooperation of the regents, and the backing of the people to enable it to try this cultural experiment. It speaks well for Michigan citizens and their university.

It will take a rough big man to leave much of a mark in such a large student body, but we all know that a cultured environment, though thinking, is not the means to success, sometimes seems like a whole tidal wave to see what thinks in a student's nature acting or he does or wants to hear what he thinks. It is strong that he acts well and thinks right.

The influence of one good person in a community cannot be overestimated. The influence of one highly intelligent, high-thinking and well professor in the middle of college with a group of students is worth his weight in gold. He will listen to their problems, he will share their joys, he will always give them something to emulate. The professor in the classroom have not the time, even if they had the talent, for this mingling among students.

It will take a rough big man to leave much of a mark in such a
